Dear All,

here are the latest additions from the Paralympic World to the ParalympicSport.TV on demand video archive.

KURT FEARNLEY - Australia's Marathon Man on Enough Rope with Andrew Danton

...a story so full of heart you would expect to see the name Stephen Spielberg in the credits. It is about a young boy who triumphs over adversity earning Paralympics glory thanks to a never say die attitude and love of a tight knit family and the support of a country town and as a bonus for action fans it also involves two car accidents. Ladies and Gentlemen Kurt Fearnley...

FOOTBALL 7-A-SIDE - Video Premiere

Football is one of the world's most exciting sports and the 7-a-Side version is no exception, combining speed, agility and impressive ball handling. This sport has been officially part of the Paralympic Programme since the New York/Stoke Mandeville Games in 1984. The sport is governed by the Cerebral Palsy International Sports and Recreation Association (CPISRA) and follows the rules of the International Federation of Associated Football (FIFA), with some modifications.

There are seven players on the field rather than 11, the measurements of the playing field are smaller, there is no offside rule and throw-ins may be made with only one hand. This sport is intended for athletes with cerebral palsy and a ratio of players from varying levels of disability must be maintained. The match consists of two halves of 30 minutes each.
